Find out more about

The Queen's Award for Voluntary Service

You are duly invited to attend an exclusive event in Lincoln to find out how volunteering groups in your region could be nominated to win the Queen's Award for Voluntary Service, the MBE for volunteer groups.

Since Her Majesty's Golden Jubilee, the Queen has awarded The Queen's Award for Voluntary Service to hundreds of groups across the UK in recognition of the outstanding contributions they make to their local communities.

Hosted by the Lord-Lieutenant of Lincolnshire Anthony Worth Esq, the event offers eligible groups and all those able to encourage, make and support their nomination, the chance to learn more about this prestigious Award.

Previous winners from the region will also be present to share inspirational stories about what winning has meant for their own groups and the difference it has made to the work they do within their communities and those who benefit from it.
